

Kato Lee Gomez
Sponsor: Michelle Ockman

(Remember)

Cherish the flourishing fire

Its warmth holding you tight amidst the straining pyre

Cherish family like a gift

Their light illuminating your genesis while you drift

Cherish the ground

It carries your weight without a word, feeding you like a baby bird

Cherish every word spoken

Their powerful foundation create the bricks of who you are

Cherish memories of those lost and those with you

The most important people are the pillars supporting your youth

But always cherish yourself, a small dot in the big world

You carry the weight of so much, past and present

Strive to feel confident, for strength and gallantry

ZeroGPT: 0%